Your Blueprint to – A Better Life!

“Why am I here?” Do you ever get the feeling you’re meant for so much more, but don’t know what it is? I know how you feel, and I spent decades looking for answers. I was led to study the Ancient Science of Astrology. Learning the sacred language of the symbols and how to practice the sacred art, I found the answers to my questions – and I can help you find your answers too!

Imagine… when you were born… that amazing moment when the blueprint of your life was engraved into your astrological birthchart. You are purposefully made, one-of-a-kind, your birthchart will never be repeated – it tells the story of the person you born to be and the life you are actually meant to live.

Astrology in and of itself is not magic; alone it solves nothing, it merely holds a mirror up to the lessons of life. But maybe by gazing at the reflection we can better understand the point of the lessons and the patterns behind them. And maybe, with wisdom and courage, life’s difficulties are lessened. This is the promise of Knowing Your Stars through evolutionary astrology … this is my promise to you.

Know Your Karma

We all face disappointments; everyone has dreams that don't come true. Life is complicated, full of loose ends and contradictions. Have you ever heard "there is a reason for everything"? It's true – everything in your birthchart is karmic! We each find ourselves in "a karmic predicament".

Every configuration in your birthchart represents a kind of life challenge, and the challenge can be grasped most deeply when viewed through the lens of the karma that it represents. Your birthchart reveals your karma, and when you Know Your Karma, you are able to rise up and embrace its higher potential to resolve the karmic wound and expand into new possibilities.

Know Your Choices

Life is riddled with information overload, too much happening; decisions, decisions, decisions... so many choices... it's unanimous, wrong moves create more trouble, who needs more of that? A wise person (Ma) once told me "Your life is what you make it!", yikes... I've learned it's all true! But what if you had guidance in knowing what choices to make and which way to go?

Knowing your Stars empowers you with the life-shaping power of conscious choice. You become better equipped to recognize the triggers of challenging karmic patterns. You become an active decision maker, making choices that intercept life's drama and resolve life's challenges.

Know Your Story

We have all heard the end-of-life stories, when many look back with regrets at how quickly it went by. Yes, this is a bleak vision, but we must acknowledge how quickly time goes by. Your birthchart expresses your pure potentiality and reveals what you can be, and what you are meant to be. Your story is unique to you!

If you live the message of your birthchart... if you get it right... you will be vital down to the core and you will look back at the end of your days, in a state of radiance... you've lived the life you were born to live. When you Know Your Stars, you know the message of your story and radiance is a possibility.
